Kent,

Your assumption about our fees is a false premise. It would be a more productive use of your time to comment on our proposed order rather than trying to make groundless rhetorical points.

Aaron,

Since you have asked that the Court deliver the funds to your law firm—presumably because you intend to hold the money until your unpaid fees are addressed—your claims that your clients' situation is so dire and urgent that it cannot wait until tomorrow strike me as unpersuasive.

If you must file without our comments, please include this note with your submission and let Judge Daniels know that we have comments will provide them as soon as we are able to do so.

Kent,

We will hold off on filing until 4 p.m. to await any comments from you. This is a simple, one-page order, and Plaintiffs are already on record as to their substantive position. Defendants have explained the urgency of the release of these funds in our opposition to the motion to stay, so we believe it is both feasible and appropriate to finalize this before close of business today.

Aaron,

We have not had an opportunity to review your order. We will have comments on it but not at noon. If you feel you must submit it at noon, please include this note in your submission and advise the Court that we have not had the opportunity to comment.

Best,

Kent

Kent,

Judge Daniels' clerk called us following receipt of your letter of earlier today concerning the bond order and asked that we submit a proposed order for release of the bond funds, after confirming with you that Plaintiffs have no objection to the form of the proposed order. Please let us know Plaintiffs' position as soon as possible so that we may tender the proposed order to Judge Daniels today as he requested.

Best regards,

Aaron
